DESCRIPTION

BLT Architects helped physically transform this regional law firm into a national player by expanding the Philadelphia practice into 15 cities across the country. Trusted with more than 20 commissions totaling over 500,000 SF, each interior design and fit-out is a physical manifestation of the law practices' methods. Each of the offices BLTa designed became a "beta site" for testing the functional and programmatic components of Duane Morris' next workplace. Besides common materials and details, key elements of the design strategy included the incorporation of a sophisticated data, voice and video communications network to facilitate the sharing of information, and expertise and services among all offices. Pictured here are Duane Morris offices in Miami, Florida.
